Monthly Storytelling Series

ABOUT THE STORYTELLING SERIES

Our monthly storytelling series is all about community engagement. We believe that stories impact change, that we better our world by coming together to learn about our shared and unique experiences.

Since April 2020, we have been presenting on Zoom where we're able to reach audiences around the globe and feature artists from all over. Our donate-what-you-can model for this series has helped support dozens of storytellers and non-profit organizations doing the on-the-ground work of caring for our neighbors, and we sincerely thank you for being a part of that.

We look forward to coming together in person again one day soon and, in the interim, hope you'll continue joining us in this virtual world we've come to embrace.

UNDISCOVERED WORKS NEEDS YOUR STORIES!

Are you a creative artist looking for an opportunity to share new work? We'd love to consider including you in our monthly series! Please contact us at leaha@undiscoveredworks.org.

Undiscovered Works is dedicated to supporting artists as they develop plays, music, monologues, comedy, and film. Our monthly storytelling series presents work in all stages of development, bringing together voices from across our community. Our ensemble-based Off and Off-Off Broadway productions bring to light the social issues of our times, all the while entertaining and inspiring dialogue.

TONIGHT'S PRESENTATION

TALKING (AIR)HEADS

a short play by Brett Iarrobino

read by Melina Fana Aquino & Noveadra Sorenson

In Talking (Air)Heads, a child's birthday party is transformed into the philosophical playground of two sentient balloons, who ponder the fate of their kind and those that came before them.

Talking (Air)Heads received a directed reading at the 2021 Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival in January, after its nomination as a regional finalist and national semifinalist for the 2021 John Cauble Award for Outstanding Short Play with the Kennedy Center for Performing Arts and the Dramatist Guild.

\ Q&A with the playwright directly following the reading. **

ABOUT THE PLAYWRIGHT

Brett Iarrobino is a playwright and poet who writes, devises, and produces work in Worcester, Massachusetts. This is their second time producing work with Undiscovered Works and they are thrilled to be back in the virtual space with the incredible Leah Abrams and the rest of the UW team! Their writing for the stage has placed nationally for the John Cauble Award for Outstanding Short Play with the Kennedy Center for Performing Arts and the Dramatist Guild, and their poetry and short fiction have been featured in Worcester Poetry Association's "A Walk in the Woo" public street art installation and the Hesse Flatow's "Affective Histories" exhibit in New York. Brett is a two-time first-place recipient of the Loring Holmes & Ruth Dodd Drama Contest (2021 and 2019) and has produced nationally with the 24 Hour Plays. When not writing or producing, they're endeavoring to create visual and performing arts opportunities in the nonprofit and education sectors, teaching English and theatre at University Park Campus School, and has worked with a number of grassroots art organizations, including Main IDEA Youth & Arts, Art House Productions, and more.

When we are able to gather in person, we're fortunate enough to be at Dixon Place's lounge, a staple of the downtown theatre scene for over three decades, where we remind you to stay hydrated and know that every dollar you spend at the lounge goes directly back into supporting the thousands of artists Dixon Place hosts every year. Well, it's more important than ever to stay hydrated and Dixon Place needs our support more than ever. Please, if you're able, consider making a donation - perhaps the cost of that drink at:
